

Abigail Martel

Abigail Martel was born and educated in Guernsey where she has accumulated a comprehensive knowledge of the international financial services industry.

Her career in finance began in 1998, starting out in the operations department at the Bank of Bermuda she gained a technical understanding of the cash management and banking systems which ultimately advanced her to Departmental Head of Treasury Operations.

Immediately prior to joining Cogent in 2015, Abi worked in relationship management for Barclays where she was responsible for a diverse portfolio of corporate clients with a particular focus on the Captive Insurance market.

Abi is very personable, blending professionalism with a friendly open attitude and enjoys nurturing strong client relationships. She was drawn to Cogent's reputation for personalised customer service and was inspired to join an independent company able to deliver wealth management as unique as its clients. Abi has a 'think outside the box' attitude and provides workable solutions with her problem solving capabilities.

A family oriented person with three children, Abi is regularly involved in helping her community and participates in a number of charitable events throughout each year. During summer months Abi is drawn to the outdoors, particularly the sea and enjoys both diving and sailing.
