

Alex Willcocks

Alex Willcocks was born and educated in Guernsey where she attended The Ladies College.

She began her professional career in 2007 at Deutsche Bank International in the trust and fiduciary division. Her aptitude and conscientiousness meant Alex progressed quickly to the position of Trust Officer and she became responsible for a varied case load of client relationships and administration, particularly involving private clients based in Latin America.

Alex joined Cogent in 2010 having been attracted to the company by its reputation for quality client service and technical capability, and more particularly, by the structure of the business that enables her to develop long term and close relationships with clients who are involved in a wide variety of different activities. Alex particularly enjoys the interesting and diverse opportunities that Cogent, as a growing independent business, has been able to offer to her. In 2014 she was appointed Company Secretary of Cogent and its group companies.

In 2012 Alex completed professional qualifications from ICSA (The Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators) and holds the Certificate and Diploma.

At the beginning of 2017 she successfully completed an MSc in Corporate Governance with Bournemouth University and also qualified for the Chartered Secretaries Qualifying Scheme (CSQS) with ICSA.

Alex enjoys most outdoor activities, particularly cycling and skiing and she is a qualified Gym and Fitness Instructor.
